

NOT A RESURRECTIONIST.

JAMES G. BLAINE UNWILLING TO TAKE THAT ROLE IN 1884.

Democrats Declaring that he is not a Candidate for any Political Office—He and Chamberlain Holding a Post-Mortem.

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—James G. Blaine said to an intimate personal friend in this city to-day: "I want you to distinctly understand that I am not a candidate for the Presidency or for any political office, and nothing would induce me to be." As the ex-Secretary spoke his face darkened with seeming unhappy memories, while his fist came down in violent emphasis of his declaration.

Concerning an attempt to engage Mr. Blaine in conversation on the result of Tuesday's voting, the Journal in the morning will say: "Those who talk with Mr. Blaine on political subjects will learn that he is not a resurrectionist. They will learn from him that he does not see in Tuesday's reverses anything to cause despondency respecting the future of the Republican party. The defeat is not as signal as that of 1874, and like that can be made to result in good to the party. The Democratic party suffered overwhelming defeat in 1840, but carried the election of 1844. The Republican party was practically beaten in several of the most important Northern States in 1860, but carried the election of 1864, one or two in 1865. He believes that victory may be achieved in 1884 by presenting as a candidate for the Presidency a man upon whom both factions of the party, and who has the confidence of the country."

But while Blaine refused to be interviewed on the subject, he was interviewed by a number of prominent friends among whom were Secretary Chamberlain and Senator Blair of New Hampshire. Blaine was very careful to answer the questions put to him in his remarks, or to say "I told you so about the fail of the party." He discussed candidates for the Senate today, and Mr. Barnes' reason of finding no man with a clear majority in present outlook could successfully unite the Republicans in convention. If Gen. Butler can be nominated, he added, "he will be the strongest man the Democrats can nominate in their national convention. Still, he would be only to make him the Democratic candidate."

Secretary Chamberlain was in a festive mood. He expressed his satisfaction at the result in New Hampshire, and was asked what the situation in the country at large was. "A New Hampshire man not long ago was so ill that he had to give up his practice of the law. The patient was anxious to learn the real opinion of the men of medicine, and so directed his friends to call him in to the Boston Medical Association and report his condition. The fellow came back and said he could not understand much of the conversation, except that the doctor had talked of talk about what the autopsy would show.

Senator Blair said that he knew Gen. Butler had cooperated with Madison in Virginia, and on that account he believed that he would make the strongest candidate for the Democracy in the South, where he would have a strong negro following.

COUNTY CLERK BUTLER'S CASE.

We Believe that He was Re-elected and Counted Out, but Reserves His Rights.

County Clerk William A. Butler was found at his residence last evening. He seemed to be in good spirits. He was asked about the reported statement that he had been reelected on Tuesday and fraudulently counted out.

"It is true," he said, "that I was elected by the people and counted out by politicians. In certain districts I find that not one vote was counted for me, whereas I have trustworthy information that I received several votes in those districts. I do not want to name the districts, for I intend to wait until after the county canvass before taking steps to punish the guilty. In other districts I received less votes than I expected, and this extending through all the 688 districts, it is a failure of the entire system."

On account of so few real polling places are concerned, the people have won a great victory. Cleveland would have carried to victory if every voter had voted. The Citizens' ticket was appointed from Tammany, leaving half the town to the Democratic party.

The Citizens' party had not an influent in the whole county. My experience as sheriff of the county has been to see that the people in this state for the election of 1860, and in the election of 1864, and in the election of 1868, and in the election of 1872,
